Cloudflare Outage Causing Issues With Online Databases

A popular internet infrastructure platform Cloudflare was dealing with an outage on Tuesday, Nov. 18, which was causing users issues accessing many websites and services. For example, the outage means ASQ Online is unavailable. This may be affecting our other online databases or web-based services as well.

Message From CloudFlare

As of 6:30 a.m. Arizona time, the company had "made changes that have allowed Cloudflare Access and WARP to recover." However some issues persisted and the company was continuing to work to resolve the issue.

Cloudflare System Status

Cloudflare Service Issues

Identified - The issue has been identified and a fix is being implemented.

Jun 21, 06:57 UTC

Investigating - A critical P0 incident was declared at approximately 06:34AM UTC. Connectivity in Cloudflare's network has been disrupted in broad regions.

Eyeballs attempting to reach Cloudflare sites in impacted regions will observe 500 errors. The incident impacts all data plane services in our network.

We will continue updating you when we have more information.
